Faculty Speak

Dr. Y Shekar
Head - Center for Digital Enterprise

“As the new India embarks upon its entrepreneurial journey of startups and is likely to become a global powerhouse, management education also needs to rediscover itself as the pandemic has indicated. India is a country for case studies – in the context of scale and complexities – in terms of demography, literacy, financial habits, social practices and beliefs, languages and freedom of expression. After implementing Aadhaar and UPI (Unified Payment Interface), which are technology-enabled platforms developed by technocrats who are, on average, less than 40 years old, India is the new tech startup destination for the world!”
